There are many reasons why people may prefer to watch The Revenant with English subtitles. There are English subtitles available for the movie because the story is set in 1820s North America, and this part of North America has native Americans speaking their native languages. For example, there is an Indian character who speaks Hindi instead of English or French. It's not hard to understand what's happening because they speak in their own language; however, you can use your earphones if you want to listen more closely. The Revenant is unique because it has a lot of violence and gore. There are scenes that are too graphic to watch without closing your eyes, including hunting scenes. If you want to watch The Revenant with English subtitles so you can keep up with the storyline, remember to download it on time so you can get subtitles of the movie in advance. This way, you won't get caught unawares. Unlike other movies, The Revenant has a lot of foreign dialogues and it's only natural that not everyone wants to use earphones while watching the movie. With English subtitles, viewers can follow through with ease. The Revenant is the kind of movie that makes people think about life and mortality. It's no wonder that the movie had won so many awards. It shows how human beings can thrive despite the odds of survival. People who watch the movie are likely to feel emotional, sad, and happy at the same time. The Revenant has gained so much popularity not just because it's visually appealing, but because it has an interesting storyline that keeps viewers on their toes. The Revenant is also considered as one of the most realistic movies for its time that reflects on how people live in harsh conditions. The film has seen its day in Hollywood history for being a top grossing film in 2015. When it was released, the film was a huge hit among fans and critics alike. The movie has received such positive feedback from such notable personalities like Steven Spielberg and Leonardo Di Caprio. A clear designation of why this film is so amazing is that it comes from the mind of Alejandro Gonzales Iñárritu who made the movie Birdman. The Revenant is about a fur trapper who is left in the woods during winter after being mauled by a bear. He has lost many of his companions in his journey to reach another settlement after their guide got killed by Indians. He has no idea of what to do to survive and he must rely on other people he finds in the area if he wants to get out of this perilous situation. Alejandro González Iñárritu is a famous director that has made many movies that were critically acclaimed. There are many movies that have come from his mind and even made him one of the best directors in Hollywood and he is considered as one of the best directors today. One movie which has won so many awards was Birdman which later on won an Academy Award for Best Picture.
